Licensee may provide electronic links to the journals from Licensee's or Licensee's Members' web pages, and is encouraged to do so in ways which will increase the usefulness of the Licensed Materials to Authorized Users. Licensor's staff will provide reasonable assistance in creating these links. Licensor and Licensee agree that links from Licensee's bibliographic computing systems to the Licensed Materials will be, preferably, via DOI technology under development by the International DOI Foundation (IDF). Licensee will begin using DOIs and the CrossRef system when the metadata and DOIs for 100 percent of the existing content has been added to the CrossRef system. In order to effectively support linking directly to content at the article level, Licensor will make every effort to ensure that the metadata and DOIs have been deposited with CrossRef within 7 days of when the data is added to their online system.

Fees and Special Provisions

C.1. The Base Value of this Agreement will be the cumulative prices of Licensee's Members' 2001 print subscription, electronic-only, and discount-price print journal holdings to the Licensed Materials at 2002 prices (capped, per clause C.4), and will constitute the basis upon which all future prices (including price increases) are founded. For 2002, this Base Value has been established at [Text]

C.2. For access to the Licensed Materials by Licensee's Members during the Term of this Agreement, Licensee agrees to pay an escalating Premium representing a percentage of the Licensee's (capped) print price for each journal for which print delivery is required. The Licensor will charge this fee directly to the Licensee. This Premium will be fixed at [Text] in Year 1 (2002), [Text] in Year 2 (2003), and [Text] in Year 3 (2004). For 2002, this Premium is established at [Text]

C.3. Newly-published journals may be added individually to this Agreement at the start of each subscription year, at the request of the Licensee; they will subsequently be added to Appendix E. The cost of these journals will be calculated by multiplying the prevailing subscription price times the Licensee's Multiplication Factor (the combined number of paid subscriptions divided by the number of unique titles comprising them). The Licensee's Multiplication Factor is calculated to be [Text]. For 2002, the cost of newly-published journals is established at [Text]

C.4. Licensee's Members will inform Licensor, by November 1 of each year of the Term of this Agreement, of which Licensed Materials it no longer requires delivered in printed form. Licensee will be invoiced directly by Licensor for the (capped) content price of these Licensed Materials. For 2002, this amount is established at [Text]. The cost of these electronic-only subscriptions are included in the total listed in C.1.

C.5. Licensee and Licensor agree that if, during the Term of this Agreement, Licensee wishes to pay Licensor directly for the electronic content at the Base Value, Licensor will invoice Licensee directly for the entire combined cost of all content. Licensee must notify Licensor of its intent to do so, and to purchase electronic content directly from Licensor, by August 1 of 2002 or 2003 of this Agreement. Licensee and Licensor will define payment terms in a written Annex to this Agreement, which will include a [Text] of the prevailing Base Value for Licensee's direct pre-payment to Licensor for electronic access to the Licensed Materials. Print copies of the Licensed Materials will be available to campuses at a deeply-discounted rate to be defined in an Annex. Upon opting for the electronic content at the Base Value, one print copy of the Licensed Materials listed in Appendix A will be delivered at the Licensee's request at no cost to a single location, to be chosen by the Licensee. Issues will be delivered either as published or in bulk, at Licensor's discretion. Licensor will consult with Licensee prior to shipment and will notify Licensee of the delivery method before the start of the subscription year.

C.6. The Base Value will be increased during the term of this Agreement by the annual price increase of the journals listed in Appendixes A and E. This price increase will be capped at [Text]
